WorkSource Sky Valley serves eastern county jobless

August 17, 2009 – Monroe, WA—Workforce Development Council Snohomish County (WDCSC), in partnership with the Sky Valley Community Services Office (DSHS), is pleased to announce the opening of the WorkSource Sky Valley, an affiliate site providing workforce development services to eastern Snohomish County, including the cities of Snohomish, Monroe, Maltby, Sultan, and Gold Bar.

A grand opening ceremony will be held at 10:00 am on Monday, August 17th, 2009 at the Office, located at 19705 State Route 2 in Monroe, WA.

“We’ve long wanted to find a way to bring WorkSource services to rural parts of Snohomish County,” explains Sue Ambler, CEO of WDCSC. “WorkSource Sky Valley brings this goal into fruition.”

The new WorkSource site reinforces the critical infrastructure that is made in Snohomish County through agency partnerships, says Bill Dehmer, Head Administrator at the Sky Valley Community Services Office. Dehmer explains, “Having WorkSource in the Sky Valley area will provide needed services for job seekers and businesses while strengthening our collaboration with other agencies, like the Monroe campus of Everett Community College, Take the Next Step, and Volunteers of America in Sultan.”

WorkSource Sky Valley will serve eastern Snohomish County residents with services such as job search assistance, resume writing workshops, and skills upgrade and training opportunities. The Office will be open Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Fridays from 8:30 am to 4:30 pm.

Workforce Development Council Snohomish County (WDCSC)

WDCSC invests government and private funding to continuously increase the global competitiveness and prosperity of county workforce and businesses, fill current and emerging jobs, and provide full employment. Investments are made through effective business, labor, community-based, educational, and service provider organizations for the opportunity, economic well-being, and benefit of our entire community.
